John McCain 2008
Att: Thomas Miller
Health Care Policy Advisor to Sen. John McCain
P.O. Box 16118
Arlington, VA 22215

October 15, 2008

The Honorable Senator McCain,

On the eve of one of this country's most important elections, the National Latino AIDS Action Network (NLAAN) would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge your dedication to working closely with non-profit, government, and private sector stakeholders to continue the fight against HIV/AIDS. We are fortunate to have a candidate who understands that the only way we can stop HIV/AIDS is through the promotion of HIV prevention efforts, encouraging increased testing, targeting communities with high infection rates, and reducing disparities through effective public outreach. It is because of your understanding of the issues that we would like to call your attention to the HIV/AIDS crisis in the Latino Community.

As the largest minority group in the U.S., Hispanics/Latinos are disproportionately affected by HIV/AIDS. The tremendous impact of the epidemic continues to affect the health and well being of Latinos across the U.S. and its dependant territories. Latinos in the U.S. represent 15.3% (U.S. Census Bureau) of the population but account for 24.3% of the new HIV infections. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Latinos are three times more likely than Caucasians to be HIV positive or to have an AIDS diagnosis. Studies have shown that Latinos face additional barriers to healthcare access that exacerbate the epidemic, including lack of health insurance, underutilization of preventive health services, and limited availability of linguistically and culturally competent services. Despite these trends, AIDS among Latinos has all but disappeared from national discourse. Latinos are not on the public health agenda in many states and the Federal government response has been slow and inadequate.

At the National Latino AIDS Leadership Summit held in Washington, DC on January 29-30, 2008, more than 300 leaders representing 27 States and U.S dependant territories came together to finalize the Latino/Hispanic HIV/AIDS Action Agenda and prioritize action steps. The meeting helped develop the attached Latino/Hispanic HIV/AIDS Federal Policy Recommendations Addressing the Latino AIDS Crisis which was released June 2008. This document provides an overview of the social and contextual factors that contribute to the disproportionate rates of HIV infection and AIDS diagnoses within Latino communities and offers concrete recommendations for addressing the issues at the Federal level.

This important document urges the Federal government to make necessary and overdue changes that will directly impact the health and wellbeing of Latino communities across the country. Inadequate and mismanaged funding, lack of culturally and linguistically appropriate services and apathy towards the cultural realities of Latino communities have created a health crisis that must be addressed immediately by the next administration.

As President we know that you will continue to generate concrete actions for all those at risk or infected with HIV/AIDS. You understand why we need to address this collectively as a nation to win this fight. NLAAN is at your service and would welcome an opportunity to work with you and your team to meet this challenge head on with the urgency that it demands.

We are asking you to endorse these Federal Policy Recommendations so that we might quickly communicate this fact to our participants across the country.

Sincerely
